evening. The little hall in the building was filled with the friends of Miss Brooks and of the school. Decorated with many musical pictures, instru-scene. Miss Lula is daughter of our prominent lumber dealer Mr. R. W.

Brooks. She has been a delicate child and several times had to stop school for this reason. So for the past few years she has devoted herself to the violin. Her successful recital, playing a long and difficult program with care and grace and rare expres-the work for which she is best adapted.

Her technical skill is remarkable and what she may lack in physical force is Port-au-Prince, Hayti, June 1—Additional details were received here this morning from a Spanish source of the engagement at Santiago de Cuba yesterday. The reports say that the Spanish batteries first answered the fire of the Americans in a lively manner. After twenty minutes of firing directed in a very superior way by the American fleet the batteries weakened. The Americans then concentrated a violent and protracted fire upon Morro Castle utterly destroying it. The forts of Zocaba and Punta Gorda fired the last shots.The reports do not give the Spanish losses but they must have been considerable. The details of the American losses are also lacking. The Spaniards claim that they struck the American vessels several times. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the firing ceased.

At that hour no Spanish vessels were in sight.BOMBARDMENT BELIEVED.Washington, June 1, (10:30 a. m.)— m.—A heavy engagement has taken place at Santiago. Advices here indicate that there has been a severe fight between the American fleet and the outer fortifications.The fight lasted the greater part of the afternoon. The advantage appears to have been with the Americans.ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.Cape Haytien, Hayti, May 31—Midnight—A despatch which has just been received from Santiago states that the American squadron under command of Commodore Schley, which has been blockading that port for a number of days, began to bombard the fortifications at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the evident intention being to reduce them in order to get at Cervera's squadron at anchor inside.The American fleet was comprised of fourteen vessels. The despatch says that among the attacking vessels was one which seemed to be the New York flying the flag of Admiral Sampson.There is great excitement in Santiago, the Spanish resident notwithstanding the repeated boasts of the military and naval officers, fearing that the Americans will soon be in possession of the city.When the firing commenced many of the men in the city, whose sympathies have been with the rebels, started for the insurgent lines, which are but a short distance from the town, to offer their services.The fighting began just about 2 o'clock, when the signal to begin the battle was set on the Brooklyn.This seems to refute the statement that Sampson was present, for had he been with the fleet, he would, by his rank, have been in command.Owing to the height of the hill on which Morro Castle is located, it was impossible for the Americans to run in shore and elevate their guns to a sufficient height to do any damage, consequently the big ships with the heavy rifles stood some distance off shore, from where they could pour in more effective fire, while the smaller vessels, nearer shore, devoted themselves to attacking the sand and mortar batteries.By standing off shore the big ships had plenty of water to manoeuvre in.

They passed to and fro before the entrance.Some of the shells from the big rifles went clear over Morro, landing in Estrella Point battery, Santa Catalina fort, and other fortifications on the same side of the entrance, but to the northward.Thousands of persons, when they found that the shells did not reach the city, went to points of vantage, where they could witness the bombardment.
The forts replied bravely to the fire of the enemy, but as far as can be learned they did not appear to do any great damage.The sound of the cannonading was deafening.DID CERVERA TAKE PART?The despatch intimates that some of the Spanish warships took part in the engagement, but this cannot be verified.Whether or not the Americans entered the bay is not known.It is reported here that they did, but this is doubted, as it is scarcely supposed that Commodore Schley would attempt to run the forts through the channel, known to be filled with both electrical and contact mines.It may be that Schley did enter the harbor for a short distance and is now awaiting a more favorable opportunity before proceeding up the bay and engaging the Spanish warships.During the fighting a number of troops were hastily despatched from the city, and it is judged from this that the artillerymen were needed to man the guns.It is certain that the firing ceased shortly after four o'clock.Just before it ceased the cannonading was the heaviest of the day.NO ADVICES RECEIVED.Washington, May 31—The navy de-

Havana, June 1, (censored despatch) The following Spanish account of yesterday's engagement at Santiago de Cuba has been issued here: The American fleet consisting of the Iowa, Massachusetts, Brooklyn, Texas, New Orleans, Marblehead and Minneapolis and another cruiser and six small vessels took up a position on May 31st at the western side of the mouth of Santiago harbor opening fire from the first five vessels. The Spanish cruiser Cristobal Colon was anchored within the harbor near to the Punta Gorda fort and could be seen from the sea. The fire of the American fleet was hotly answered by the batteries of Morro Castle, the fort of Punta Gorda and the Cristobal Colon. The Americans fired seventy-two shots from thirteen inch guns without causing the slightest damage.The bombardment continued for an hour and a half. The American fleet then retired with one auxiliary cruiser damaged. Two shells were seen to explode on the stern of the Iowa and flames appeared aboard of another battleship. Several projectiles fell inside the harbor near the Spanish warships. There is great enthusiasm here and in Santiago de Cuba.LONG IS SKEPTICAL.Washington, June 1—President Mc-Kinley, Secretary Long and other officials are deluged with queries about the reported engagement at Santiago de Cuba. They uniformly responded by discrediting the reports.LONDON IS PUZZLED.London, June 1—The public here is utterly bewildered by the conflicting reports of the bombardment of Santiago. The stories of American and Spanish victories are cabled with equal positiveness and plausibility.FRANCE'S CROOKED WORK.London, June 1—The daily Chronicle says today that the general situation is grave. It publishes that a rumor of secret arrangements between France and Spain continues with singular persistence.Reports of French designs on the Canaries are gathering strength. In commercial circles it is perfectly understood that England will regard French occupation of the Canaries as an unfriendly act and that if France aids Spain public opinion here will demand that England assist America.The Pall Mall Gazette says that henceforth England and America will be drawn together and that Anglo-Saxon unity will become more a force to be reckoned with.A Fatal Explosion.

erous wires now crossing South Elm ter to his mother, dated at Cienfuegos, May 12, Norman L. Monhat, a gunner aboard the Marblehead, which was in the engagement off Cienfuegos, says:

"After the battle Captain McCalla called us all before the mast and started in to compliment us for our bravery. But he could not. He broke down and wept like a child, and every man on the ship vowed that moment to stand by the captain and follow wherever he leads so long as there is a silver left of the ship: He is like a father to us. He thinks the world of his crew, and they of him."To Cure a Cold in One Day.Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tab-

Washington, D. C., June 1—Senator Chandler created a sensation in the senate this afternoon by bitterly attacking President McKinley in a speech advocating the silver seigniorage amendment to the war revenue bill.
Chandler read aloud a letter he had sent to McKinley saying that so long as the utterances of Gage and Director of the Mint Preston remained unrepu-diated by the president it is useless to send representatives abroad to obtain an agreement looking to international bimetallism. The letter said in substance that McKinley should either disavow the sentiments of Gage and Preston or abandon bimetallism and openly put himself on record as analterably prejudiced against silver.To Protect Homestead Settlers.

The month of leaves and unpaid bills walks bravely in.

The deficit in Mr. Leiter's patriotism may be estimated at $10,000,000.

Hereafter captains of English coal ships will not accept C. O. D. contracts.

The Salvation army has bought a farm in Ohio. White cap festivities will shortly begin among the Buckeye yeomen.

The spook of that Matanzas mule ought to be grateful that the cable was not cut before General Blanco immortalized it.

Spain's navy is not the only part of her fighting force that is troubled with barnacles. She ought to dry dock her army and scrape the top of it.

Names of next American cruisers to be commissioned: Vizcaya, Infanta Maria Teresa, Cristobal Colon, Almirante Oquendo. Torpedo boat destroyers: Pluton, Terror.

If application for coal had been made to Marcus A. Hanna & Co. by Spain instead of to the Cardiff miners Cervera would have had his bunkers filled. Mr. Hanna finds what he goes in search of.

If England has really friendly sentiments toward us she will lay an embargo or an iceberg on Mr. Alfred Austin, poet laureate to Her Imperial Majesty and numerous family. We still recall the vicious assault he made on the muses after the Jameson raid. Besides we have troubles of our own.

Let us put an end to the war and go back to politics afterward.—Biblical Recorder.

What! Deprive the American of his birthright, blight the hopes of all the youths whose fathers were men (though nobody would suppose it), let innumerable oratorical posies pine on the stem, grant the eagle's tail a respite?—it is hereby, rank political heresy. Let us hear no more of it.

There has been a disposition to criticize the insurgents that smacks of snap of judgment. They have not yet had a fair opportunity to show whether they will be valuable as allies or not. It is not always easy or convenient for them to rush a hundred miles or so through territory held by Spanish troops to some point on the coast to meet a landing party from Key West with arms and ammunition. We shall be compelled to see a good deal of the insurgents during and after the war and it is just as well to learn what stuff they are made of before we begin to abuse them.

After all Admiral Cervera in refusing to rush on certain destruction showed his good sense and his fitness as a commander. Popular clamor forced him into a perilous position but it could not justify his sacrificing the lives of his sailors where absolutely nothing was to be gained. His coal bunkers were empty and it is odds that his magazines are not in much better condition.

When Scofield was elected a governor of Wisconsin he had his moody cow franked to the state capital by the express company. Now he finds himself confronted by a dilemma that is by no means moody. His political opponents too are inclined to be sarcastic and indulge in unseemly jests to the great detriment of gubernatorial dignity. It is not every man who can milk a cow and a corporation at the same time.

While the advice and warning of foreign warriors is appreciated by the American people it is just as well to remember that equally high authorities bade us beware of the Spanish navy. In the first requisites of a soldier, courage, obedience, devotion to duty and especially marksmanship the Americans who compose the invading army are hardly surpassed. Every American, as has been pointed out before, knows how to use a gun. He is familiar with it from his boyhood, not as something to be manipulated in a drill, but as a weapon of destruction that kills only when pointed at the object to be hit. The warfare waged with the insurgents showed that the Spanish soldier is not a much better marksman than the Spanish marine. He probably never fired a gun in his life until drafted into the service. The cavalry squadron that bears down on even an American volunteer regiment with machetes is likely to need considerable recruiting next day. Drill is not everything in soldiering, though admittedly important as many a well drilled army has found to its cost.

General News in a Nutshell.

Mail is quickly conveyed through the unpopulous sections of India by means of a relay system. Each letter carrier has a run of six miles, at the end of which stretch he is relieved by another carrier, who at once begins his run.

A Missouri paper says that the fertility of Jasper county's rich soil is indicated by the fact that a small patch of it near Dueneweg, about six miles from Joplin, has netted its owners $500 a day for more than a year past; and no sign of a crop failure is yet discoverable. The principal product "raised" is zinc.

The women of Coffeyville, Kan., made up a package of useful articles for each member of the local company of volunteers, and sent the whole to the camp at San Francisco. A copy of the New Testament went with each package, and one of the recipients objected to the gift. He said he wanted the Old Testament, because there was so much more war in it.

There are about 270,000 foreigners who pass from a week to a whole winter on the Riviera each year, and it has been estimated that the average expenditure of each while there is about $200. In other words, the foreign visitors spend about $54,000,000 in the country every winter.

A citizen of Leavenworth, Kansas, swore in court the other day that his wife would not cook for him, and the wife swore that he never brought her anything to cook. The court, lacking the full measure of Solomon's wisdom was unable to solve the problem.

Efforts are being made to establish a new final honor school in natural science at Oxford. Mr. Herbert Sutton, of Reading, has promised to indemnify the University from any pecuniary loss that they may arise from its foundation.

French army discipline does not countenance monkey shines, as an engineer lieutenant stationed near Toulouse recently learned to his sorrow. The officer in question became convinced that one of his men had stolen, and as the soldier would not confess the lieutenant ordered him to be shot. The victim was put through all the forms of a military execution, save that the firing platoon used blank cartridges. The lieutenant has been court-martialed and sentenced to an imprisonment of 2 months.

Havana's "cabbies" have little opportunity to indulge in the practices so common to those of other cities. The lamp-posts of the Cuban capital are painted in various colors—red for the central district, blue for the second circle, green for the third, etc.—and thus the "fare" knows immediately when he has passed a legal boundary, and pays accordingly.

The war with Spain has caused a scarcity of pineapples, which delicious fruit come largely from the Bahama Islands, and which has hitherto been brought to our markets principally by small vessels flying the American flag. The owners of many of these boats, fearing the capture of their property by Spanish ships, have withdrawn them from service; and consequently the supply of pineapples has diminished as freight rates have increased.

What It Means.

When we advertise that we will guarantee Dr. King's New Discovery, Electric Bitters, Bucklen's Arnica, Salve, or Dr. King's New Life Pills, it means that we are authorized by the proprietors to sell these remedies on a positive guarantee, that if purchaser is not satisfied with results, we will refund the purchase price. These medicines have been sold on this guarantee for many years and there should be no more conclusive evidence of their great merit. Ask about them and give them a trial. Sold at C. E. So Tired! So Tired! Chronic Dyspepsia!

For ten years I had been a severe sufferer from chronic dyspepsia, which was pronounced incurable. I was completely run down, and in the summer season was not able to do anything and spent a great part of the time lying down. I could not touch anything of any kind, or any solid food whatever, as I could not digest it at all and had to live on crackers and light diet. I was very nervous, would have severe nervous spells, and could not get any natural sleep, I was so restless. I suffered all the time from chronic dysentery, which kept me weakened down. This was my condition when I determined as a last resort to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I had tried so many treatments and so many patent medicines without benefit that I had no faith in anything but had almost made up my mind not to try another thing, when Mrs. Person came to my house last April and induced me to try her Remedy. I bought a dozen bottles. Felt no relief whatever until I was on the fourth bottle, when I knew I was getting better. I became stronger, got so I could sleep well and there was no necessity for me to lie down in the day time. I took twenty-two bottles before I stopped. My digestion is now perfect, and I can eat meat, vegetables, and anything else I want, and as much as I want. When I commenced the Remedy I weighed 98 pounds, now I weigh 115 pounds. Dysentery perfectly cured, and it is all owing to Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. It is everything claimed for it.

PUMPING COAL.

The Modern Way of Taking Out the Cargo of a Sunken Canalboat.

The old way of recovering coal from a sunken canalboat was to raise the boat, with the coal in it, to a point where the coal could be reached. Chains were worked under the sunken boat from pontoons moored alongside of it.
At low tide the chains were made fast on the pontoons, which, rising with the tide, lifted the sunken boat clear of the bottom. At high water it was taken inshore as far as possible, until it again grounded. This operation was repeated until the boat was brought to the surface. The new way, or, rather, the modern way, is to pump the coal up from the boat, wherever it may lie, and then raise the boat, if it does not raise itself.
By this method the work is all done in very much less time and at very much less expense.

The pump used has no pump valves.
It is a centrifugal pump, the suction being produced by means of a disk, with wings attached, turning at high speed within the pump shell, a circular chamber, to which the suction pipe is attached. An eight inch pump of this kind will pump grate or broken coal easily, and pump up a load of 800 tons in a day. It will raise coal from a boat sunken at any depth from 5 feet to 800 feet.
The pump and engine are installed on a wrecking boat, which is moored near the sunken boat. In this case the pump has a long flexible section of suction pipe attached to it, and to that are attached the various additional lengths of pipe that may be required to reach down to the coal. This pipe is made of wrought iron, and it is made in sections of different lengths, so that it may be joined to make a pipe of any length desired. At each end of each length of iron pipe is a flange. As lengths of pipe are joined, the flanges are bolted together, with a rubber gasket between, to make the joint tight.
The flexible suction pipe is held out over the water and over the sunken boat from the wrecking boat by a gaff, and iron pipe is added to the needed depth.
By means of the gaff the pipe may be raised and lowered as occasion may require, as, for instance, to raise the lower end of the suction pipe from one part of the canalboat up and over a cross-beam connecting the sides, to be lowered into the coal in another part of the boat.

When the pipe is all joined on, it is not at once lowered into the coal. The pump is first charged with water, which is done in an exceedingly brief time, and in a very simple manner by means of a siphon attached to the shell of the pump. When it has been charged, the pump is started and the lower end of the suction pipe is then lowered into the coal, and coal and water are pumped up together and thrown out through the pump's discharge pipe in a continuous stream. A boat to receive the coal is made fast alongside the wrecking boat, and the coal from the pump is discharged upon a screen set at an incline between the two boats. The water runs through the screen and the coal runs on into the other boat.

The suction pipe can be handled for the most part from the wrecking boat.
If any handling under water is necessary, a diver goes down for that purpose, and it may be that the diver brings within the power of the pump's suction remnants of coal left in nooks and crannies which it might otherwise not have reached. When the boat has been emptied, if it is not too much damaged or water soaked or too firmly bedded in the mud, it will float of itself.
If suction holds it to the bottom, it will rise when it has been started clear.

Pumps of this kind are made of from 2 to 60 inches in diameter.—New York Sun.

The Two Lobes of the Brain.

In the ordinary working of the brain one half is more active than the other and exercises a superiority on its neighbor lobe. This lobe—in ordinary persons the left, of course—is the cerebral master. Heredity, education, or what we will—all the combined influences, in short, which mold human life—have tended, by some process of physiological selection, to place one lobe over the other in point of importance. The other (right) lobe is the servant of the left in a measure. Its education has been neglected, and it requires the control of its better cultured neighbor in order that life may be conducted in a sensible and sane fashion. The most hopeless cases of insanity, Wigan would have held, would be those in which both hemispheres were affected. If one was alone ailing, the other might exert more or less control over it, and the extent of the control would depend on which lobe exhibited the diseased action. All degrees of insanity or mental derangement could thus be accounted for on this supposition of the relative control of one hemisphere by the other.
The perfect life is that in which the better and higher half controls the weaker and less responsible.—Andrew Wilson, M. D., in Harper's Magazine.

Something Like a Search.

A Welshman who was in London when extensive sewerage operations were in progress lost his watch. He reported the matter to Scotland Yard, and the officials said they would leave no stone unturned to find the missing timekeeper. Shortly afterward Taffy again visited the metropolis and saw street after street turned up. He was told that in all 86 miles of road were in the same condition. He rushed down to Scotland Yard and exclaimed to the wondering inspector:

"I didn't think I was giving you all that trouble. If you don't find the watch by Sunday, I wouldn't break up any more streets."—Pearson's Weekly.

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Santiago Healthier Than Other Cuban Provinces.

Washington, May 31—A cable despatch from Commodore Schley today left the government in no doubt as to the sending of troops to Santiago, the number needed for the expedition and the prospects of naval protection during the landing of the forces near the harbor.

Resolutely as the administration adheres to the policy of giving out no information regarding the contemplated movement of the troops it was learned today that it is the intention to send the first detachment to Santiago, and withhold the expedition to Porto Rico until these have been landed. About 20,000 soldiers will go to Santiago.
The distance from Tampa is about 1,100 miles, and it will take the transports about three days to make the trip and land the men and munitions.
The transports can then return to Jacksonville, whence the bulk of the Porto Rican expedition will embark.
Naval officials endorse the plan to send the troops.

The forts at the mouth of the harbor are to be first occupied, and then the forces will occupy the hills surrounding the bay. Then it will be practicable for the American warships to proceed against Cervera, as all the mines and batteries would be able to assist and not injure Schley's ships.

Army officers believe the Spanish fleet can be bombarded with siege guns from the hills and many guns of a powerful kind have been loaded on the transports.

The fact that the first military movement is to be made on Santiago is fortunate for the troops, as that part of the island is free from most of the deadly diseases prevalent in other provinces.

Allowing a reasonable time for the transports to return from Santiago, the Porto Rico expedition should be ready to leave within a week.

It is believed that 20,000 men will be sufficient.

Major General Brooks has been selected to command the Porto Rico expedition, and he will probably be accompanied by General Lee, who is already at Jacksonville.

Unexaggeration

Probably there is no temptation so illusory, so insistent and so perilous as to call your attention to the fact that exaggeration once begun, knows no limit. Where is it going to stop? Today the exaggerator must tell a bigger, stronger story than yesterday; tomorrow, a bigger, stronger one than today, and so it goes on.

Extravagance of statement seems to be palatable. It is entertaining; it flatters, it captivates, but it is self-deceiving.

The quickest and most certain way in which we can point out its danger is to call your attention to the fact that exaggeration once begun, knows no limit. Where is it going to stop? Today the exaggerator must tell a bigger, stronger story than yesterday; tomorrow, a bigger, stronger one than today, and so it goes on.

Beside being untrue, and invalid, and conveying a wrong impression, it is weak, cowardly and mean to exaggerate; while its being utterly unnecessary and thoroughly disreputable, goes without saying.

Nearly everyday we go to the public with business assertions, grounded upon our character, watched by our reputation. It is absolutely impossible for one of those assertions to contain a particle of exaggeration. They have merchandise quality to vouch for them, and our quality to hold them to their pledges. Hence, if you have any occasion, at any time, to illustrate an argument that the principle and policy of sterling truth make the most successful business, you can point to us and point to our doings and sayings as proof.

Meantime Capt. Schenck and Lieut.

De Butts have been cited to appear for riding bicycles without lights. They pleaded that they were engaged in the service of their country and should not be fined; that in Cuba they would be compelled to move much in the dark and were getting their eyes accustomed to it. His Honor pointed out that they ran when they saw the policeman and asked if they were getting their eyes accustomed to running in the dark before going to Cuba.

There are some twenty others held to appear for the same offence and it is understood that they will plead that as the city does not find it necessary to light the streets when the moon shines bicyclers should not be required to carry lamps on such nights. All these things are causing unwelcome activity in the mayor's office. The pipes and empty tobacco pouches have disappeared from the mantelpiece and ponderous tomes have taken their places. His Honor does not doff his spectacles from morn to dewy eve and takes bromide at night while the vagrant winds toy unbuckled with the whiskers of Clerk Michaux as her searches in vain for precedents.

An Interesting Item.

The people in the southern part of the city thought last night that Cervera had escaped Schley and was cruising up South Buffalo to bombard the city. Heavy cannonading was heard in that direction about 10:30 o'clock. The best evidence that it was Spanish aim is that no one was hit. The police should investigate the matter and return the fire.

Death of Mrs. Elam.

Mrs. Nannie R. Elam, relict of S. S. Elam, aged 71 years, died yesterday afternoon at Charlotte. She leaves five children, all boys. One of them is Mr. Harper J. Elam, of this city. Mr. Elam left this morning for Charlotte to attend the funeral. From this morning's Charlotte Observer we take the following:

Mrs. Elam was a native of Chester county, S. C. She had lived in Charlotte for years, and was known as a good Christian and a woman of most estimable qualities. She was a member of the Episcopal church. The funeral services will be conducted at the church this afternoon at 5 o'clock, by Rev. C. L. Hoffman. The pall bearers will be: Col. H. C. Jones, Messrs. B. S. Davis, J. F. Wilkes, C. L. Hunter and F. Gilreath.

Mr. Tyer Dead.

Mr. J. M. Tyer, aged 85 years, died at his home on East Bragg street last night about twelve o'clock after a protracted illness and was buried in Greene Hill cemetery this afternoon at five o'clock. Mr. Tyer was a native of Guilford county and returned here last winter after residing in Tennessee for several years. He was the father of Rev. A. P. Tyer, of Wilmington. The latter has attended at his father's bedside since last Sunday.

Fire at Mount Airy.

Mt. Airy is singularly unfortunate of late in having business houses destroyed by fire. Last night she suffered another heavy loss of this kind. Five stores and a millinery establishment were burned.

The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin and began in the basement of the Granite Furniture store. This store, with the general stores of F. M. Pore and J. F. Alfred and the bookstore of J. D. Jenkins, and the grocery store of Jenkins & Creed, and a millinery house were burned. The amount of losses is not given, but it is supposed by our informant that there is a good deal in that there was little insurance.

It would seem from the frequent fires in Mt. Airy and the mystery which surrounds their origin, that there is a good field in that town for a first class detective to get in some work.
